The Australian Training Awards

a unique celebration of excellence in vocational education and training.

From The ANTA Chairman

The skills of our workforce have been an important element in our nation's world-leading productivity during the past decade. With falling international trade barriers, an ageing workforce, and increasing pressure for international competitiveness, now is the time for Australia and Australians to really commit themselves to skill development - as individuals, as employers, and as a community.

The Australian Training Awards identify and reward the outstanding individuals, employers, and training providers who are leading us towards a high skill, high productivity future.

Please join us in celebrating their success and inspirational example at the Australian Training Awards on Thursday 18 November in Melbourne.

David Hind

Chairman
Australian National Training Authority

Managing Director
