

Dear Mr West and Co.,

Following a very brief skimming of parts of your discussion paper and the associated commissioned reports, I notice that the author(s) of one of the reports (the GAL report) suffers from a severe misunderstanding of the word "it's". This of course is a contraction, but it is used in the report as a pronoun in place of "its".

If the writer is a product of the Australian education system, this would seem to be evidence of a fundamental failing if the system, perhaps primary and secondary.

I trust that the final report will correct these errors.

Ross Drynan
Associate Professor of Agricultural Economics
•From: r.drynan@agec.usyd.edu.au (Ross Drynan)

[\[Return to Top\]](#) [\[Return to Index\]](#)